A TEACHING COLLECTION OF AFRICAN CERAMICS

EXHIBITION CHECKLIST

Shattering Perspectives is a collaborative, student generated exhibition exploring ceramic arts from across the African continent through vessels and objects from the Gregory Allicar Museum's permanent collection. The exhibition features nearly 140 objects by artists from 57 cultures, representing 19 countries across present day Africa. Shattering Perspectives takes a unique approach to engaging African ceramics through the lens of a teaching collection and was conceived by Colorado State University students enrolled in an art history seminar course in Spring 2020.

The students, who also served as co-curators, authors, and exhibition designers, explored the politics and poetics of museum display while delving into the methods, functions, and symbolism surrounding pottery, as well as the roles of ceramic artists across the African continent. The result was a dynamic exhibition that presents unique viewpoints on approaching and discussing these fascinating objects through hands-on engagements and theoretical dialog. The exhibition is organized around the themes of art v. artifact, misconceptions about the “unknown” African artist, pot making techniques across the continent, and visual expressions of identity. These perspectives present viewers with insights on working with a teaching collection and the resulting dialog that develops through encounters with art objects and critical texts.

This exhibition was organized and co-curated by Dr. David Riep.

Student Co-Curators: Barbara Bohl, Kara Brian, Preston Brooksbank, Colin Coleman, Brooke Cordell, Payton Frantz, Tiffany Garcia, Zander Harrigan, Willa Hendler, Tatum McCallum, Anna Meiser, Brittany Micho, Jakob Mueller, Amanda Nierman, Derek Nyback, Devani Ruff, Paige Schuler, Sam Sedoryk, Kyle Shetler, Amy Smith, and Britt Thompson.

Exhibition Design by Willa Hendler and the students in ART492A.
